
ScreenHunter is a screen capture software that allows you to take pictures of anything from your desktop, from apps opened on your computer to the live videos running in front of your eyes. It lets you create hard-to-find screenshots or use webcams as a source for some really neat shots. ScreenHunter also offers the ability to edit the images before they are sent out, plus it integrates with File Manager and Clipboard Managers. Another astounding feature of this screen capture software is its compatibility with different systems and devices across all major operating systems.
